

Module: Europe
Topic Content: Cultural Influences of Mediterranean and Eastern Europe

Cultural Influences of Mediterranean and Eastern Europe

CULTURAL INFLUENCES
OF MEDITERRANEAN AND EASTERN EUROPE

Click next to begin.

Module: Europe
Topic Content: Cultural Influences of Mediterranean and Eastern Europe

Menu

MEDITERRANEAN AND EASTERN EUROPE

Click Each Image to Learn More

Click each image to learn more.

Module: Europe

Topic Content: Cultural Influences of Mediterranean and Eastern Europe

Leaning Tower of Pisa

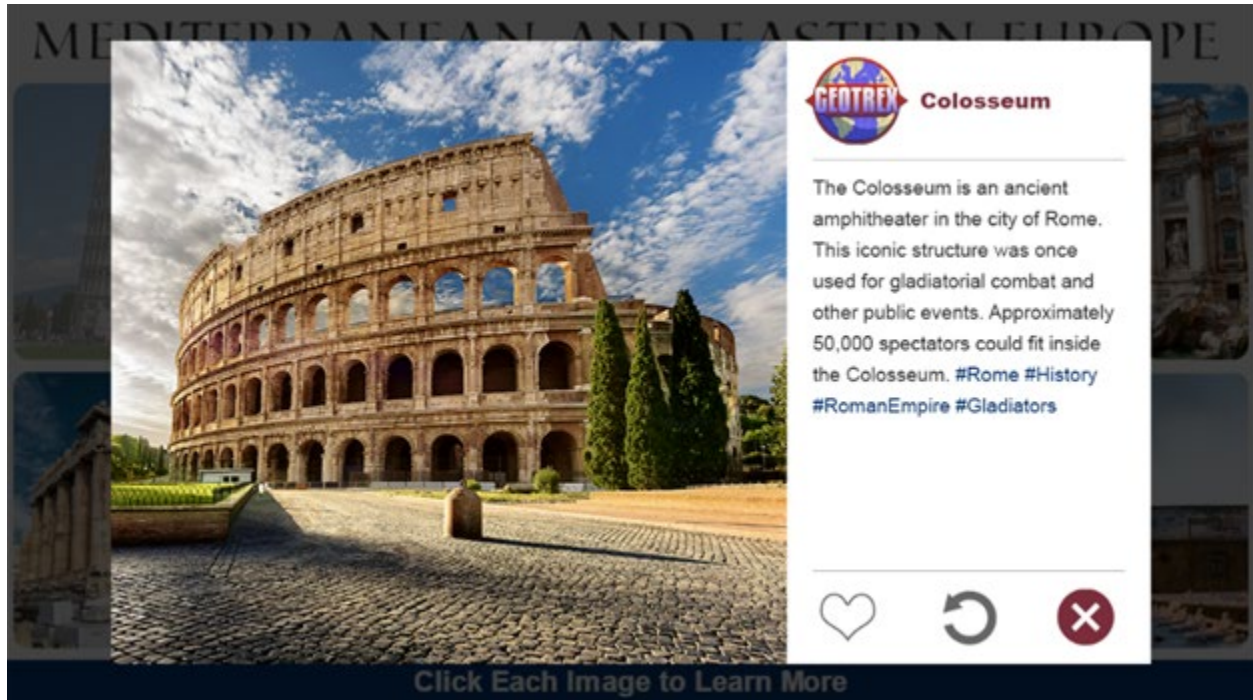

The Leaning Tower of Pisa is a medieval structure in the Italian city of Pisa. It was built on soft ground, which caused it to lean over time. Modern engineers have stabilized the foundation to stop the lean from increasing.

Module: Europe

Topic Content: Cultural Influences of Mediterranean and Eastern Europe

The Colosseum

The Colosseum is an ancient amphitheater located in the city of Rome. This iconic structure was used for gladiatorial combat and other public events. Approximately 50,000 spectators could fit inside the Colosseum.

Module: Europe

Topic Content: Cultural Influences of Mediterranean and Eastern Europe

St. Peter's Basilica

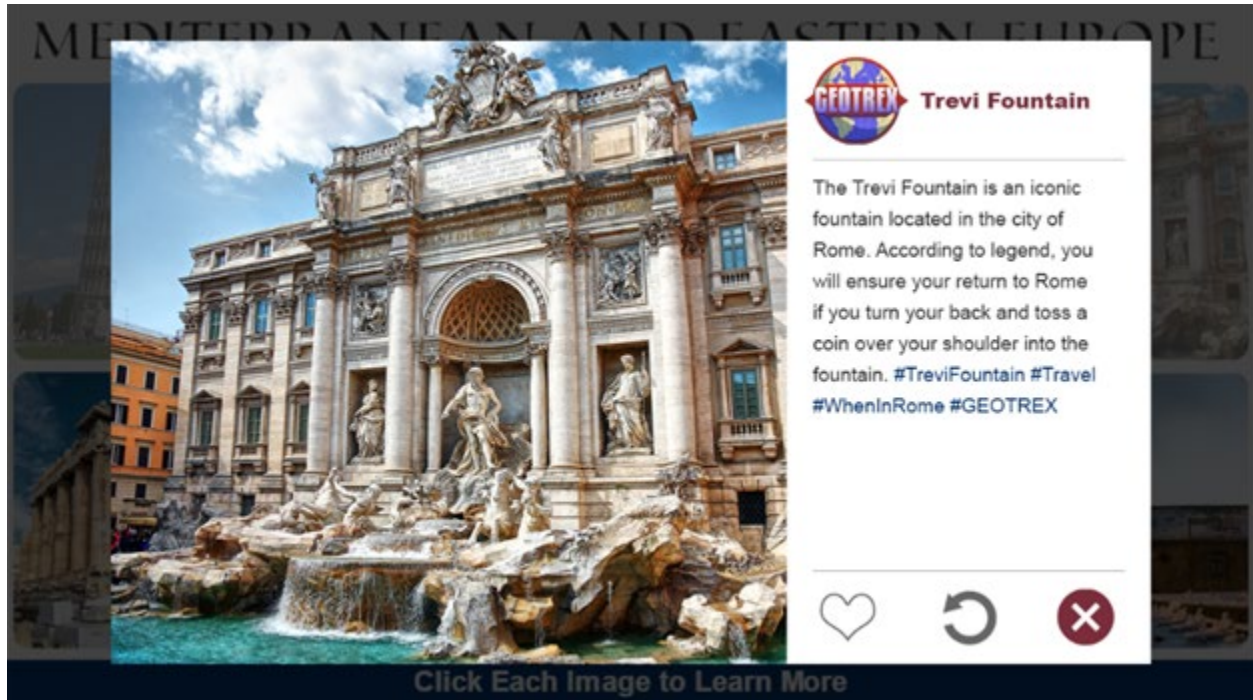

St. Peter's Basilica is a Roman Catholic Church located in the Vatican City. It is the largest cathedral in the world. The Renaissance artist Michelangelo designed the massive dome. St. Peter's contains the tombs of several popes and countless works of art.

Module: Europe

Topic Content: Cultural Influences of Mediterranean and Eastern Europe

Trevi Fountain

The Trevi Fountain is an iconic fountain located in the city of Rome. According to legend, you will ensure your return to Rome if you turn your back and toss a coin over your shoulder into the fountain.

Module: Europe

Topic Content: Cultural Influences of Mediterranean and Eastern Europe

Parthenon

GEOTREX Parthenon

The Parthenon is an Ancient Greek temple located on the Acropolis of Athens. An acropolis is a complex or fortress built on a hilltop. The Parthenon was built almost 2,500 years ago for Athena, the patron goddess of Athens. #AncientAthens #Athena #WesternCivilization

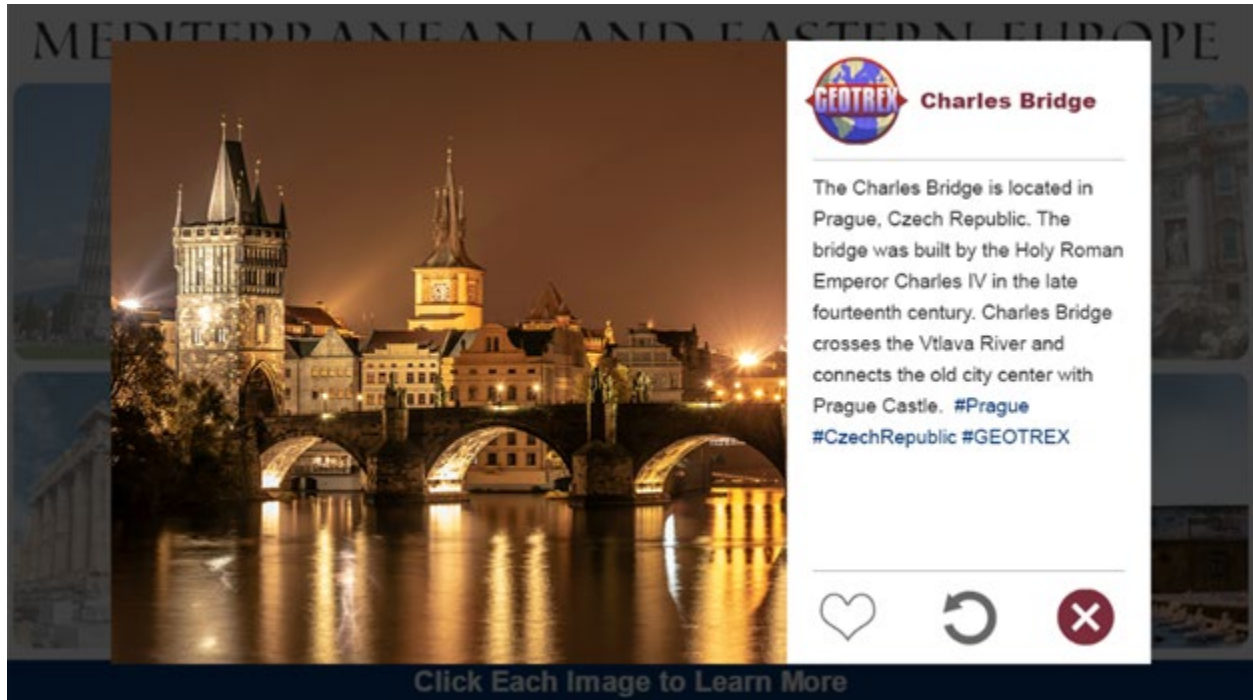

Click Each Image to Learn More

The Parthenon is an Ancient Greek temple located on the Acropolis of Athens. An acropolis is a complex or fortress built on a hilltop. The Parthenon was built almost 2,500 years ago for Athena, the patron goddess of Athens.

Module: Europe

Topic Content: Cultural Influences of Mediterranean and Eastern Europe

Charles Bridge

The Charles Bridge is located in Prague, Czech Republic. The bridge was built by the Holy Roman Emperor Charles IV in the late fourteenth century. Charles Bridge crosses the Vltava River and connects the old city center with Prague Castle.

Module: Europe

Topic Content: Cultural Influences of Mediterranean and Eastern Europe

St. Sophia's Cathedral

St. Sophia's Cathedral is an Orthodox Church located in Kiev, Ukraine. It was built approximately 1,000 years ago, but was nearly demolished by Soviet authorities in the 1930s. St. Sophia's now functions as a cultural landmark and museum.

Module: Europe
Topic Content: Cultural Influences of Mediterranean and Eastern Europe

Auschwitz Concentration Camp

GEOTREX Auschwitz Concentration Camp

Auschwitz was a Nazi concentration and death camp that operated in occupied Poland during World War II. More than one million people, 90% of whom were Jewish, died in Auschwitz. Today, Auschwitz serves as a museum and Holocaust memorial. #NeverAgain

Click Here to Continue

Auschwitz was a Nazi concentration and death camp that operated in occupied Poland during World War II. More than one million people, 90% of whom were Jewish, died in Auschwitz. Today, Auschwitz serves as a museum and Holocaust memorial.